TURN OUT TO VOTE
TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 8 ELECTION DAY!

President's Message

"I don't want your fast and your sacrifice, I want you to deal your bread to the hungry, tear apart the chains of the oppressed." _ from Isaiah 58:6.

Let us hope that the sound of the Shofar at the closing of Yom Kippur this year, will usher in a time of greater economic and social justice for women, children and families, Jewish values we embrace.

Let it be our call to action to protect women's reproductive rights, and the civil rights of all: the LGBT community and the ethnic, racial and religious groups that comprise the rich diversity of our country. Let us advocate for equal pay for women; economic equality for all; equitable education for all children; the appointment of fair and independent judges; common sense gun safety laws and to counter efforts to suppress the right to vote.

Let us renew our commitment to advocate for victims of domestic violence and sex trafficking. By educating the public and pursuing legislative action, we can hope to close a loophole in a law that leaves sex trafficked children and teens vulnerable to prosecutorial actions that may place them in juvenile detention, thus compounding their trauma.

We can work together and take pride in the fruits of our labor from the seeds that we plant.

May you and your families have a healthy, sweet, fulfilling and peaceful new year.

Sandy Fryer

ANTI-SEX TRAFFICKING— AN UPDATE ON SENATE BILL 851

NCJW Greater Philadelphia Section joined our coalition partners on the Pennsylvania Anti-Human Trafficking Advocacy Work Group in Harrisburg to support passage of Senate Bill 851. While the earlier passage of the federal Trafficking Victims Protection Act and Pennsylvania's Act 105 provides that any minor used in a commercial sex act has victim status, these acts did not provide for complete immunity from criminal charges for prostitution. Senate Bill 851 would close this loophole. Rather than being referred to the juvenile justice system for delinquency proceedings, a child would be treated as a victim and referred to the dependency system for services.

Just 15 minutes after arriving at the capital, our NCJW representatives learned that the SB 851 was blocked from passage for reasons as yet unclear. The bill appears at greater risk as its passage requires that it be re-introduced in the next legislative session. Our group made efforts to learn the circumstances of the bill's delay and present our concerns to legislators. We first met with the legislative aide for State Senate Majority Leader Jake Corman, the state senator who pulled the bill from consideration. His aide seemed unable to respond to our inquiries. Although, the bill had not moved from the senate to the house, we then met with State Representative Steve McCarter who asked questions and took notes on our concerns. Lastly, we met with the legislative aide for State Senator Art Haywood, Lianna Walters. Our meeting with Ms. Walters felt particularly productive in that she eagerly engaged with us for our mutual benefit to identify and analyze factors and potential resources to help pass this bill.

CRUNCH TIME ON A DANGEROUS AND PUNITIVE ANTI-GUN SAFETY BILL
The “Standing/Sue Our Cities Bill”

On October 17, the Pennsylvania State Senate once again passed the same bill that was declared unconstitutional almost a year ago. This bill, as did the last, gives the right to the NRA to sue any city, borough or town in PA for passing any sensible gun safety measure, but was reworded to sound “less unconstitutional”. The expense of lawsuits would most likely discourage townships from passing gun safety measures. When the legislature convenes its next session, the bill will likely be up for passage by the Pennsylvania House of Representatives.

TO MEET THE THREAT of this bill’s harmful potential to obstruct communities’ efforts to promote their safety, YOU CAN CALL OR E-MAIL your Pennsylvania House Representative ASAP and tell him or her not to vote for this dangerous bill. If you do not know who your state representative call me, Linda Lempert at 215-884-5906 or e-mail me at lindalempert@verizon.net. NCJW, with our considerable membership, should add to the chorus of voices to insure that our legislators take notice. As this coming election appears to reflect, women’s voices in the Greater Philadelphia area are showing real impact.

Linda Lempert, Legislative

Chair

Taking Aim at Gun Violence: Implications for our Jewish community

In partnership with the Jewish Community Relations Council

We have witnessed unprovoked attacks on civilians and a series of mass shootings in schools, shopping malls, theaters, houses of worship and, over the summer, the largest mass shooting in U.S. history at a nightclub in Orlando and an attack on the Dallas Police force. These horrific acts not only shock our conscience, but also have wide-ranging implications for the health of our families and our Jewish community.

VIOLETS OR VIOLENCE

An upcoming NCJW event that focuses on how Jewish traditions guide home life and looks at domestic violence in our Jewish Community. (See enclosed flyer)

Our featured speakers are:

Rabbi Richard Steinbrink, ordained at the Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion, has served numerous congregations in NJ, NY and Rodeph Shalom in Philadelphia. He is past president of the Jewish Campus Activities Board of Greater Philadelphia (Hillels) and of the Delaware Valley Association of Reform Rabbis and National Association of Retired Reform Rabbis. Rabbi Steinbrink has served on the Phila., District Attorney's Youth Aid Panel and has been the Part-time Jewish Chaplain at Jefferson Hospital for the past 15 years.

He is also a Life Member of NCJW

Robin Axelrod Sabag, a licensed Social Worker, is the Assistant Director, Counseling and Therapeutic Services at JFCS. She oversees all clinical programs, the domestic violence intervention and prevention program as well as care management services. Upon attaining her graduate training in social work, she completed a post-graduate training program in marriage and family therapy at the Council for Relationships. Her clinical training has prepared her to assist clients with a variety of problems, including domestic abuse, eating disorders, addictions, depression, anxiety, relationships, grief, transition through the life cycle, and self-esteem. Robin has an extensive background working with clients who are healing and repairing from recent or past psychological trauma. From 2006 to 2012, she was employed as an individual, family and group therapist at a residential treatment center for women with eating, anxiety, depression, and personality disorders. She has maintained a private practice and worked in outpatient settings and in community health centers. Additionally, Robin has been an adjunct professor at Temple University.

Our NCJW Greater Philadelphia Section makes donations in support of the Domestic Violence Division of the Jewish Family and Children's Service of Greater Philadelphia.

Goodies For Good Guys

Please help us continue this wonderful NCJW tradition as we assemble trays of delectable homemade, and store bought treats to be delivered to those who must work on Christmas Eve. We deliver our trays to police, firefighters, and hospital and nursing home employees.

We need homemade and store bought cakes, cookies and candy and most importantly volunteers to assemble the trays.

We will work on Friday, December 23rd starting at 10 a.m. at my home.

1228 Imperial Road
Rydal, 19046

Goodies can be dropped off any time ( just leave it at the door) and I'll be glad to store them in my freezer.

Thanks for your help.
