125 YEARS OF POWERFUL JEWISH WOMEN

NCJW confronts today's most urgent social and economic challenges facing women, children and families. Powered by the Jewish imperative to ensure dignity for all, we impact policy, advocate for justice, and support the community. Your voice has never been more essential and our voices together make a meaningful difference in the world.

Advocacy Update

With the election behind us, NCJW members around the country are proud of OUR EFFORTS to REGISTER VOTERS, ENCOURAGE TURNOUT and - in some states - ADVOCATE FOR BALLOT INITIATIVES.

This election cycle saw record numbers of women and people of color running for office. And the result? A historically diverse House of Representatives with many firsts, including the first Muslim and Native American Congresswomen as well as the youngest woman ever elected to the House.

Now that the election is over, we look ahead to working with this new Congress to do what we have always done: fight for women, children, and families. Our work to protect the integrity of the federal courts, advance voting rights, and defend our reproductive rights continues.

NCJW staff and volunteers realize that the country remains deeply divided. Our advocacy efforts are non-partisan. Yet, when confronting decisions by the current administration, we find that we are often in opposition to the President and his party. I want to assure all section members that we are eager to work with any legislators - state or federal - who will help us accomplish our goals. Our focus is on issues, like access to healthcare and birth control, preventing gun violence, and ending human trafficking. Over the past year, we were thrilled as we saw state legislators of both parties co-sponsor, and ultimately pass, the bill that will protect young trafficking victims in Pennsylvania.

With many new members taking seats in Harrisburg, we believe there will be more legislators who support what we stand for. We are excited to begin researching bills to work for in the new term.

President's Message

Much has happened since my last message to you! The midterm elections, a priority on everyone's minds, happily resulted in so many women elected to Congress. We can take pride in the voices of women which will be heard louder than ever and achieve so much! As members of NCJW we can feel affirmed in our continuing efforts in advocacy and community service; in striving for social justice and human rights, just as our newly elected congressional women will be doing.

Below are some of our Greater Philadelphia Section Accomplishments since September:

- Our membership increased, thanks to all of you, and our wonderful membership team --145 women in attendance at our very successful Membership Luncheon. (See pictures in this issue).
- A lovely New Members Tea with new plans for Membership Social Activities such as: movie discussion groups, game days/evenings, and activities to make members feel welcome.
- Our Advocacy Committee's very intensive and productive Get Out the Vote program.
- Our Program/Education Committee's exciting monthly programs including our upcoming Israel 70 celebration this month. (Keep checking our Save the Date column!)
- We have "grown" our number of volunteer tutors in our adopted Philadelphia school, packed and donated back packs for children and NOW we are collecting clothing to distribute from our newly created KIDS CLOSET.
- Taste of Culture featured a tour of the Pearl Buck House and a Broadway show.
- We continued to provide meals for families at the Ronald McDonald House.
- Donations of Toiletries and household items to help sex trafficked women and clothing to the Mitzvah Circle.
- Sharing the message of NCJW through our visibility in the Greater Philadelphia community via our outreach efforts, publicity in the media and sharing written information and brochures.

I am happy to announce the beginnings of the PHYLLIS KEDSON MEMORIAL CHILDREN'S CULTURE FUND. Phyllis was a past president of our NCJW GREATER PHILADELPHIA SECTION, who loved children. I am truly grateful to the Kedson family for their gift and for Diane Steinbrink's assistance in making this possible. (More about this in this Bulletin issue.)

With both Thanksgiving and Hanukkah approaching, let us all give thanks for everything we are blessed to have. As you light the Hanukkah candles, please rededicate yourselves to NCJW and consider making a financial TZEDAKAH contribution to our section, so we may continue the wonderful work we do on behalf of women, children and families.

Please make your tax-deductible contribution to

THE PHYLLIS KEDSON MEMORIAL CHILDREN'S CULTURE FUND

Our Section has received a generous contribution from Leonard Kedson and his sons, David and Ira, to establish a new fund in memory of his wife and their mother. Phyllis was a longtime member of NCJW in several communities She was an early member of our Section and served as its President from June, 1982 til June, 1984. She remained an active and involved member until her death this year.

Children and their well-being was always one of her priorities. The Section is pleased that this fund will allow us to provide tickets primarily for Jewish children to attend Philadelphia children's cultural events that they might not otherwise be able to afford.

If anyone would be interested in serving on this committee, or if you know of any groups that might benefit from the fund, please be in touch with Diane Steinbrink

Spring Theater Trip to People's Light in Malvern

For Peter Pan on Her 70th Birthday
by Sarah Ruhl

Wednesday May 1, 2019
at 2 PM

Five middle-aged siblings crack jokes, argue politics, and mourn their recently deceased father over a bottle of Jameson in their childhood home. Ann, the oldest, reminisces about her star turn as Peter Pan at the local children's theater fifty years ago, and now leads her siblings on one final journey to Neverland as they confront growing old and growing up.

Tickets: $34.

We will arrange car pools to get there and plan to have lunch first at a nearby restaurant. Friends are welcome! Please let Lynne Jacobs know by December 15 if you want a ticket, so she will know how many to reserve, and feel free to contact her with questions.

News about our Membership Social Committee!

We are looking for members who would like to plan and participate in activities such as lunches, movies followed by discussions, cards, bridge, Mahjong or whatever might interest you.

We are hoping to form geographic groups in Center City, Northeast Philadelphia and Bucks and Montgomery Counties.

Looking forward to expanding this new avenue of membership. If you are interested please contact Ann Pollock, Chairperson for the Membership Social Committee at Apollock1229@yahoo.com or 215 806-4068.

Goodies for the Good Guys

Once again you all have the opportunity to participate in one of our favorite activities, "Goodies for the Good Guys". If you've done it before we hope you will sign up again and if you've never been part of this, now is the time to try something new. All you need to bring are cookies and/or seasonal candy and a happy, generous attitude. Home made or store bought makes no difference. We will make up trays to be distributed to local police, fire, first responders and hospital ERs, who work on Christmas. Delivering the trays is the best part because we are always met with big smiles of gratitude from all the folks who take such good care of us year round.

We appreciate their support for our organization. Be sure to make a point to patronize these restaurants and thank them when you do. Also thanks to the Trivia Night Committee: Robert Sax, Joan Sax, Charlotte Schwartz, Judy Fried, Patti First and Ellen Mirbach.

Kid's Kloset

It's official! Winter is here! The wind is blowing and the kids at Ben Franklin Elementary are in need of warm hats, scarves, coats and gloves/mittens. Gently used items will also be gratefully accepted. There is also a need for warm winter clothes in sizes to fit kids from K through 8th grade. Anything you can provide will help our students to not only stay warm, but to know that we truly care about them.

From Nancy Kaufman
CEO of the National Council of Jewish Women

According to Nancy Kaufman..., it was pretty clear what was motivating most Jewish women voters this year.

"NCJW empowers Jewish women to act on the Jewish values we hold dear, and there's been a major challenge over the past two years to those values. Women had enough," she said.

Kaufman said there was enormous mobilization of Jewish women, "particular after the Kavanaugh hearings that left many women feeling marginalized.

"As Jewish women, they felt their voices needed to be heard. The shootings in Pittsburgh and the rise in hate crimes and anti-Semitic attacks were further motivating," she said, "as was what's going on at the Southern border."

Kaufman cited the deep Jewish commitment to welcoming the stranger. "It upset people to see troops at the border and children separated from their parents," said Kaufman, who adds that Jewish women historically have been at the core of progressive social change — even before women had the right to vote.

"People felt they couldn't sit idly by while reproductive rights and an independent judiciary were being challenged," she said.

NCJW didn't support individual candidates, but did work on ballot proposals, particularly those related to voting rights, including Proposal 2 in Michigan, which will end gerrymandering in the state, and a proposal in Florida that will allow those with a felony record to vote. Both of those proposals were approved by voters.

Year of the Woman

According to Kaufman, the number of women running in the 2018 midterms was unprecedented. On election night, 98 women won House seats, including 65 incumbents. The previous record was 85. Twelve women won Senate seats, joining nine incumbents. (Some races are still pending.)

"Particularly encouraging was the number of young women who are becoming part of the political process".

THERE ARE MANY WAYS TO CONTRIBUTE

NCJW volunteers at the Ronald McDonald House provide breakfast and more to families staying there from out-of-town while their critically ill children receive treatment at St. Christopher's Hospital. To all participants in this "nourishing" program, know that you make a meaningful difference. Unforgettable are the words of one parent who looked at our volunteer group and said, wistfully, "this is what my mother would do for me if she could be here." Interested in becoming a volunteer? patients and their families as part of our NCJW Guest Chef Program at the Philadelphia Ronald McDonald House.
