125 YEARS OF POWERFUL JEWISH WOMEN

NCJW confronts today's most urgent social and economic challenges facing women, children and families. Powered by the Jewish imperative to ensure dignity for all, we impact policy, advocate for justice, and support the community. Your voice has never been more essential and our voices together make a meaningful difference in the world.

"Preserving History to Learn from the Past"

On Thursday, May 2, 2019, our NCJW Greater Philadelphia Section will be honored with the Excellence in Education award by the Holocaust Awareness Museum and Education Center. This is indeed an achievement for which we can all feel proud. There is something about the word honor that conveys concepts of decency, worth and justice.

Honor should be a familiar concept to us because it is a practice and a presence in our NCJW Section experience. We honor each other and the people we serve with our time, donations, and advocacy for social justice and improving the well-being of others.

We hope you will come to this momentous event. Details of this event are on page 8.

President's Message

"Fight for the things you care about , but do it in a way that will lead others to join you."
(A quote by Ruth Bader Ginsburg")

Recently, my husband and I saw both her documentary film as well as the movie, "On the basis of Sex". Both of these were so inspiring. I thought about how RBG fought for the things she cared about with courage and determination. Her fight for women and others to receive equality and basic human rights, made me think about the work we do in NCJW. RBG is a leader who has been able to lead others to join her.

Our founder, Hannah G. Solomon, also fought for what she believed in and set an example for us to join her. Like Hannah, NCJW women have been fighting for what we believe in for 125 years and have been doing so with the same determination we have seen in both of these two amazing women. When I see how our women work on behalf of women, children and families and the positive changes we have been able to make, it gives me the motivation to hopefully, inspire you to join us; to volunteer, speak out and perform acts of Chesed and Tzedakah.

I am so proud of our section. So many new programs, activities and willing volunteers and advocates are stepping up to make a difference and lead others to join them. Shortly, you will see the success of our Nominating Committee as they reach out to identify new members who are willing to assume new leadership roles for 2019-20.

I am also delighted to say that our section was one of three sections from around the country that very early in January reached the targeted recruitment number to qualify us for a scholarship for one of our attendees to attend the Washington Institute in April. At this time ,we have 7 women attending, compared to three attendees a few years ago. This tells me that our women want to learn, be advocates and meet other NCJW women from around the country, and return to Greater Philadelphia to lead others to join them.

Stay warm and safe for the remainder of winter and I hope to see you soon.

B'Shalom,
Barbara

NCJW is committed to creating a world where all people, regardless of race, class, gender, sexuality, ability, or immigration status, have the right to build their families and live their lives with dignity. Our Jewish values teach us that our reproductive freedoms are integrally bound to our religious liberty; we are committed to advancing the goals of reproductive justice so that every person can make their own moral and faith-informed decisions about their body, health, and family.

Since its founding, NCJW has been a leader in the reproductive health and rights movement, and while much advancement has been made in the past 100 years to legally secure a person's right to abortion and contraception, there is so much more that needs to be done to truly ensure reproductive freedom for all.

Reproductive health, rights, and justice goes beyond the basics of reproduction. It requires us to dig deeper, advocate louder, and love harder. It requires us to center the voices of those who have been marginalized at the center to lead the conversation for social change.

Until every person has the power to make their own informed decisions about their body, sexuality, and future, our work is not over.

National Council of Jewish Women is a grassroots organization of volunteers and advocates who turn progressive ideals into action. Inspired by Jewish values, NCJW strives for social justice by improving the quality of life for women, children and families and by safeguarding individual rights.

We are a 501 (c)3 nonprofit organization. Our National web site is www.NCJW.org

We Supported the Good Guys Who Were Working on Christmas

In Bucks County, our NCJW Section members, turn out to show their appreciation to the first responders and health care givers working on Christmas in service to their communities which include Warrington, Doylestown, Southampton, and Warminster.

Here, our members are shown with their donations of home baked and packaged "goodies" before delivering them. Thank you to Amy Beitman for chairing and hosting the Bucks county group and thank you, also, to Michelle Utain for providing for the "good guys" in the Yardley, Langhorne areas of Bucks County.

Our Montgomery County "good guys", the first responders and health care providers working on Christmas were the recipients of the appreciation of our Montgomery County members of our NCJW Greater Philadelphia Section. Lynda Myers, chaired the group's mission to assemble and deliver donated baked goods to the "good guys".

Deliveries were made to our "good guys" at the Police and Fire Departments of Wissahickon, Upper Dublin, Abington, and Cheltenham Townships, Upper Moreland and Lansdale Police Departments and, in New Jersey, the Margate Police Department, the Cinnaminson Fire Department and the Palmyra Rescue Department.

Also, deliveries were made to our "good guys" at the following medical facilities: Ambler emergency, Abington Hospital, Einstein Hospital (Elkins Park and Lansdale campuses), Fox Chase Cancer Center, Jeanne's Hospital, Holy Redeemer, and St. Joseph's Manor.

WARM HEARTS PREVAIL OVER FRIGID TEMPS!

A HAPPENING AT OUR ADOPTED SCHOOL

NCJW Greater Philadelphia Section school volunteer Sandy Chaefsky conferring with one of our Franklin School second graders about winter fashion, extolling the benefits of warmth and style. The second grader pictured with Sandy was joyous with her selection of a winter jacket, scarf, and hat. Another of our volunteers had noticed that this child's former jacket was torn with the insulation coming out. Her teacher was helpful in contacting her parent for permission to receive new outer wear. When asked the next week how her mother liked the jacket, the child beamed and said her mother said she "looked beautiful".

A "shout out" to Charlotte Schwartz, our Community Services VP, whose leadership with seeking donations of warm children's clothing as well as pursuing financial donations to purchase winter clothes (she does the shopping, too!) has likely lessened the number of sick days for many students in our adopted school.

THERE ARE MANY WAYS TO CONTRIBUTE

NCJW volunteers at the Ronald McDonald House provide breakfast and more to families staying there from out-of-town while their critically ill children receive treatment at St. Christopher's Hospital. To all participants in this "nourishing" program, know that you make a meaningful difference. Unforgettable are the words of one parent who looked at our volunteer group and said, wistfully, "this is what my mother would do for me if she could be here." Interested in becoming a volunteer? Prepare breakfast for patients and their families as part of our NCJW Guest Chef Program at the Philadelphia Ronald McDonald House.

Upcoming Sunday mornings at 9:00 a.m. March 10 April 7

Please give me at least 2 weeks notice on date(s) you can participate. Call Zelda Stern at 215-394-8335

REMEMBERING ANNE FRANK NINETY YEARS LATER
Lecture by Our Devoted Member, Diane Steinbrink

In this lecture, Diane will discuss the original DIARY of 1952 and the newer edition published in 1995 that added newly discovered pages. She will also present characters from the original play DIARY OF ANNE FRANK from 1955 by Goodrich and Hackett, and from the adapted version by Wendy Kesselman from 1997. She will talk about the talent and personality of this teen, wise beyond her years, and the legacy that she has left through her words and ideas. This program has special meaning since 2019 is the ninetieth anniversary of Anne's birth.
