THE WASHINGTON INSTITUTE 2019

Over three days beginning April 7, 2019, ten members of our NCJW Greater Philadelphia Section attended NCJW'S premiere national advocacy conference. Their compelling experience is expressed visually and narratively within this bulletin. The following testimony should whet your appetite to learn about the scope and impact of the experience of the Washington Institute.

I never really thought much past our own NCJW section's advocacy efforts prior to attending the Washington Institute. There, I realized our importance throughout the entire nation, Israel, and even further. We are a powerful organization and player in so many efforts pertaining to our values and priorities. We have members working as advocates in every state and on the national level, as well as powerful partners. I saw how much we can influence laws and policies with our efforts and our voices, and the importance of doing our part to make a difference. I feel energized and proud to be a member of NCJW.

President's Message

Winter is finally over! Welcome back to those of you who were "Snowbirds" or "Snow Flakes"! How wonderful it has been to see the trees and flowers in bloom in time for Passover. Passover reminds us to welcome the stranger into our homes and community and to honor our long tradition of remembering what it means to have been enslaved and now to be free. This tradition of ours, always helps us to think of refugees and immigrants who long to be free in our country. We, as social justice and human rights advocates, always keep this in the forefront of our minds and hearts.

Speaking of social justice and human rights, I am so proud to say that last week, 10 of us from our Section returned from National NCJW's Washington Institute. This was my second Washington Institute and once again, I returned energized and proud of our NCJW leadership both in our section and around the country. This experience gave the 10 of us, along with 400 other advocates from the USA, Israel and Australia, the opportunity to discuss issues such as: Voter Engagement, Immigration & Refugees, Gun Violence Prevention, Health Care, Workplace Equity, Anti-Semitism, and Reproductive Justice for Women. We then visited our U.S. Senators and Representatives, along with our colleagues from Pittsburgh and Lancaster, PA. Three of our Greater Philadelphia participants, relatively new members of our section, now plan to assume positions of leadership. I am so grateful to Lynne Jacobs, our State Policy Representative, who helped organize our contingency as she also arranged for our Congressional Visits on Capitol Hill. The women from our section who attended the Washington Institute are: Aileen Salus, Cindi Pasceri, Eleanor Levie, Harriet Winokur, Janet Ecksel, Liz Downing, Paula Goldberg, Phyliss Barsky, Lynne Jacobs and myself.

Our section is growing and engaging more and more women. I hope that in the coming months, and into next year, more of you will become active with us as we continue to strengthen our passionate and collective efforts to speak out against injustice and to provide community service to those who need us.

B'Shalom

Barbara

MORE THOUGHTS ABOUT THE WASHINGTON INSTITUTE

Cindi Pasceri

Just got back from two and a half days of the most inspirational, educational days I have experienced in a long time! We were ten learners from our section- and all of us, thanks to Lynne Jacobs' planning had the opportunity to attend workshops dealing with gun violence reform, voter engagement reproductive justice, feminist movement in Israel, LGBTQ, healthcare, and workplace equity. We heard amazing speakers, asked questions, and engaged with our fellow NCJW sisters from all over the country. Israel's delegation had to leave early to go home to vote! The awards were given to deserving women. The chance to meet and learn about large and small NCJW sections was invaluable. I believe, as a first timer, I came away with a renewed sense of how important our work is. Thank you to Barb, Lynne, and my fellow travelers for this opportunity.

Paula Bursztyn Goldberg

The conference was super Great, and meeting up with our Representatives and Senators on the Hill was an eye opener all over again.

Barbara Nussbaum

My second Washington Institute... but this time even more powerful, because of seeing more of my NCJW sisters once again and being part of such a strong and powerful group of women whose collective voices are heard everywhere both here and in Israel.

Elizabeth Downing

As a first timer to WI, I felt very welcomed by old and new friends. As a force for change and furthering progressive Jewish values, there is nothing more important than having meaningful conversations with our elected officials. This was, for me, a valuable opportunity to learn and advance our common agenda. Thank you for this experience!

Aileen Salus

As a first time attendee at the Washington Institute I found it to be somewhat overwhelming but extremely enlightening. I quickly realized that this is not meant to be a social event even though it is a great opportunity to meet 400 women who are determined to improve the quality of life for everyone.

Phyllis Barsky

As a first-timer going to the Washington Institute I was apprehensive as to what I would be doing and how I'd fit in. Our members were all supportive and welcoming. Everything was organized to be inclusive. Differing table assignments for each meal ensured we would be with a different group of women for each meal which meant multiple opportunities to meet different people. The speakers were dynamic. Workshops were thoughtful and motivating. Altogether, an exhilarating and motivating experience.

Janet Ecksel

This was my first Washington Institute and I wasn't sure what to expect.

Whatever I was expecting, what I experienced went far beyond expectations. The workshops, the meals, the people I met from the states & other countries, Lobby day, all were a remarkable experience.

Thanks to all who put everything together.

Advocacy Update

Help us advocate about healthcare expenses in PA!

NCJW is a member of the PA Health Action Network, which works to improve healthcare for everyone in PA. Two of the issues they are calling attention to this year are:

--soaring prices of prescription drugs

--surprise medical billing (when you go in for a procedure and subsequently receive a huge unexpected bill)

Right now they are seeking the stories of people who have experienced either/both of these.

If you or anyone you know would be willing to describe what has happened to them, please let me know. You can ask around...anyone who has something to say on this will have a chance to speak up (literally or on paper).

THERE ARE MANY WAYS TO CONTRIBUTE

NCJW volunteers at the Ronald McDonald House provide breakfast and more to families staying there from out-of-town while their critically ill children receive treatment at St. Christopher's Hospital. To all participants in this "nourishing" program, know that you make a meaningful difference. Unforgettable are the words of one parent who looked at our volunteer group and said, wistfully, "this is what my mother would do for me if she could be here." Interested in becoming a volunteer? Prepare breakfast for patients and their families as part of our NCJW Guest Chef Program at the Philadelphia Ronald McDonald House.

Our new schedule will be published in September.

Please give me at least 2 weeks notice on date(s) you can participate.

See how their ingenuity and society's perception of them allowed them to perform successfully in both these endeavors. Learn why they selected the path they did and how they were able to function effectively as soldiers and influence history as spies. Discover how their will to survive the war and to create a future for themselves and their families drove them from their traditional roles and into a new world for women.
