Managing Change the Resilient Way

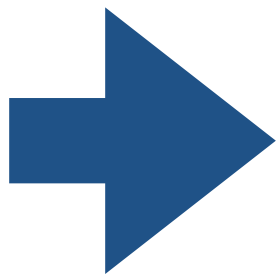

Tuesday, June 23, 2020 at 2 p.m.

Looking for a roadmap for managing unexpected change in your life? Good or bad, change can be stressful, overwhelming, and even leave you feeling lost. Whether you're struggling with a change in relationships, health, or lifestyle, learn how to manage change rather than allowing it to define you. In this interactive discussion, learn the remedy no one taught you in school. Discover the secrets of resilience and how to strengthen yours.

In these trying times it is important to stay in touch with our members. "Staying Resilient through the Coronavirus and Beyond," is the title of our first ever Zoom program, which will take place on Tuesday, June 23, 2020 at 2:00 pm. Jan M. Zacharjasz, Certified Life Coach will be our speaker. As the stay-at-home phase of the pandemic lingers, now more than ever it is important to stay strong and connected. We are all in this together, and no one should go through it alone. But how do we do this? How do we adjust to all the change of the past few months? How do we move forward in the face of uncertainty? How do we prepare for the "new normal," whatever that looks like? Jan helps people discover a novel approach...uncover the power of resilience, and learn strategies for how to boost yours, and how to gain courage and confidence through significant life changes, so you can move forward and thrive again.

Jan M. Zacharjasz, M.S., Certified Life Coach will be our Speaker

A note from the editor:

Perilous times. The pandemic, lethal acts of bigotry and economic devastation impact us all. Unlike past summers, Mal and I are publishing summer issues of our NCJW Bulletin. This is in response to members' voices who see the Bulletin as providing a meaningful conduit to stay connected with our NCJW COMMUNITY. Sharing experiences has the power to validate our feelings. Having updates on the work of our Section can provide awareness and reassurance to our members of our determination and capacity to carry out our mission of addressing today's most urgent social and economic challenges facing women, children and families.

An Armchair Conversation With Sarah Hurwitz

Sarah Hurwitz, author of Here All Along: Finding meaning, Spirituality and a Deeper Connection to Life-in Judaism was senior speechwriter for President Barack Obama and head speechwriter for Michelle Obama. After leaving the White House, she was appointed to the United States Holocaust Memorial Council by Barack Obama. Hurwitz will share how she reconnected with her Judaism after leaving the White House.

"Sarah Hurwitz was Michelle Obama's head speechwriter, and with this book she becomes Judaism's speechwriter. In a time when many people have lost faith, her timeless wisdom and graceful writing will delight even the most steadfast skeptics of organized religion."

Co-President's Messages

Farewell and Thank you!

How easy and difficult it is to say these words. This will be my last President's message to all of you after three years as your section President. This past year, I was fortunate to have by my side, Cindi Pasceri, who has been my co-president and dear friend.

I came to NCJW eight years ago after a long career in the Professional field of Jewish Communal Service. Being in this non-Profit Management world, I worked extensively with volunteers and other Professional staff. I served as an Executive Director and Consultant where I admired the dedication of hundreds of volunteers who helped to improve the world. After retiring, I knew I wanted to continue to make a difference and I discovered NCJW. I never met such smart, hard-working, progressive, dedicated members, advocates and volunteers. Being interested in social action and social justice, I knew I found my place with the Greater Philadelphia Section. Before I knew it, I was asked to be a Vice-President and then was elected President. How fortunate, I was to see the Non-Profit world from both sides; as both an Executive Director and as a President. The great responsibility one undertakes at the helm of an organization is both an honor and a privilege. But, one cannot work at the helm, by herself, without a strong team to work alongside.

It has been wonderful to work with an amazing team of women. Our officers and entire Board of Directors all have backed a vision to move NCJW forward in the Greater Philadelphia area: to increase our membership, enhance our visibility in the community, to develop a strong advocacy effort, fund raise, and to create new and exciting Community Service Projects. We have been able to offer numerous grants to worthy agencies and organizations and to see the fruits of our labor high-lighted in the media. Our relationship with our National organization, NCJW INC, is stronger than ever and they recognize the strength of our section.

You, our members, are the heart and soul of NCJW. Without you, we cannot accomplish our mission and goals. We depend on you to support our activities and let others know about what a wonderful organization we have.

I want to thank our members, our Board of Directors, our advocates and funders, our coalition partners, and our Bulletin Editor and Website Manager, and so many others. I could never have done it alone.

I know, that even during the difficult times we are living in, we will continue to speak for social justice, to continue to do our work even during a pandemic, and to support the new leadership in our section. Our section will now be led by a Presidium of Vice Presidents all of whom, I have the greatest confidence in to continue to move us forward.

It has truly been an honor and privilege to serve you and I thank you for this opportunity. I also appreciate the wise counsel I have received from a number of you. I am not leaving NCJW. How could I? After all, we have much more work to do to make our world a better place for all people!

May you all be safe, healthy and have peace in your lives.

Barbara Nussbaum

This past year as your co-president has been an amazing journey for me. Learning from Barb and being her friend has been a wonderful experience. I have been gratified by her patience, determination and love for NCJW and our members beyond measure. I will never forget this opportunity and the support and love shown me by our board. I wish all of you continued good health as we continue our journey together. I can't wait to call Giant and reserve our room for our meetings so we can be together physically as well as in spirit. Thank you. Bless you and your families with peace and love.

Cindi Pasceri

ADVOCACY

Let me introduce myself to those of you who I haven't met in person, yet. I am Liz Downing and have become Chair of our Advocacy Committee starting July 1, 2020. I have very big shoes to fill. Luckily our former Advocacy Chair, Linda Lempert, and our Pennsylvania Policy Advocacy Chair, Lynne Jacobs, have promised to help me learn the ropes and stay involved in our activities.

I don't need to tell any of you that we live in unprecedented times. Our society is experiencing upheavals that will have ramifications we cannot foresee. I also know that as committed Jewish women, you all value social justice.

If you are looking for ways to help ensure that these values will endure, please consider getting involved in our Advocacy Committee.

We had a remarkable turn out for our organizational meeting on June 11. If you were not able to make that meeting, don't worry. I will be happy to have you join at any time. Your involvement can range from sending an email to your elected officials to chairing one of our committees.

We currently have committees working on:

Get Out The Vote/Fair Districts
Anti-Human Trafficking
Benchmark(Federal Judges)
Healthcare Census

Benchmark(Federal Judges)
Paid Family Leave
Education

If you are interested in working on any of these issues please contact me so we can work together. If we all raise our voices together, I know we will be heard.

“Do not stand idly by while your neighbor’s blood is shed.”

Sharing a letter from NCJW CEO Sheila Katz*

Our country is in pain - we are mourning the senseless murders of Black Americans including George Floyd, Breonna Taylor, Tony McDade, and Ahmaud Arbery. We continue to hear stories of violence against people of color at the hands of the government, the police, and average citizens. If you are angry, outraged, or heartbroken, you are not alone.

And since you are National Council of Jewish Women (NCJW) advocates we know you are already thinking about how you can make change in this difficult time. The Torah teaches, “Do not stand idly by while your neighbor’s blood is shed.” (Leviticus 19:16). We have a sacred obligation to speak out and to work towards a more just future. The work of making change can feel daunting, and first and foremost we must each make choices every single day to be antiracist.

But, how? As NCJW advocates we must commit to antiracist work for the long-haul. To keep us moving forward during this frightening time, here are some helpful resources with some ideas of places to donate, educate yourself, and take action.

In solidarity,
Sheila Katz
National Council of Jewish Women
Chief Executive Officer

TAKE ACTION:

1. Sign NCJW's petition condemning police brutality.
2. ~~Join the NCJW delegation at the Poor People’s Campaign: A National Call for Moral Revival (PPC) by using this link to join their virtual summer mobilization at 10:00 AM ET on Saturday, June 20, to highlight the crisis of poverty in America and the impact of COVID-19. (event date passed)~~
3. Join a Protest. There are protests all over the country. Join them if you feel compelled to do something physical and if it’s safe for you. If you go, wear a mask, keep a safe distance, and consider downloading and bringing a NCJW #BlackLivesMatter sign (or print and hang in your window)
4. Donate essential items. Protests and pandemics don’t change the fact that the most vulnerable among us still need essential items. Find the local Mutual Aid group closest to you to see what’s needed or where best to drop off the supplies. Check out this database or search on Facebook.
5. ~~Amplify voices of color by joining the Movement for Black Lives week of action and by lifting up voices of Black and Brown leaders on social media. (event date passed)~~
6. Join Dimension’s Jews of Color Community Healing Call that will center those identifying as Black Jews in Minnesota and across the country this Thursday at 7:30pm ET. Open to all who identify as Jews of Color. Register here.
7. Start a salon or book club using the books, podcasts, articles, and movies below. Engaging in a difficult conversation and becoming even more self-aware is an important step towards being antiracist.
8. Remember, this is ongoing work. Being anti-racist is not something to check off a box, but something to work towards every day. Continue to learn, discuss, and to name your failures and learn from them.

June is "Gun Violence Awareness Month"

During these difficult times in the country, there has been an increase in domestic violence. NCJW has been very active in supporting those in need of shelter through referrals. If you know anyone who might be susceptible or has experienced domestic violence, please reach out and help them to be aware of shelters in the area.

INPUT FROM OUR INSIDERS

Advocacy Committee members met by teleconference to further our agenda.

Nauseous. Handled a lot this year. My mother died. COVID 19 Pandemic. Stay at home. But racial injustice just tipped it all over. Déjà vu. I fight for justice for women. For respect for diversity. Feel helpless. Not all white folks are Supremacists. Not all black folks/People of Color are poor or looters. Not all police are racists. Until we treat all as equal individuals both under law and culturally we show we learn nothing from history, religion, or culture. No group is inferior. No gender or sex is inferior. Race is a social construct, not a biological reality. We are from everywhere and in this together. When will we learn? When will elected officials reclaim their humanity? And when will our society? Racism is unacceptable. I truly believe that racists and white supremacists are looking to blame someone else for their own shortcomings. Politicians have tried to fix this before and society has resisted. Other politicians use the anger to make the situation worse. Please do not be angry at me for the color of my skin or my religion. I was born this way. But I can learn to respect and accept others for who they are. We all must do this or the great American experiment will fail.

Please! 😞

THE MOURNING AFTER

After a bruising election campaign filled with hateful, cruel, and divisive rhetoric from our now president-elect, our NCJW Greater Philadelphia Section membership has a bigger TO-DO LIST

Take a deep breath

Reach out to trusted ones.

Donate to causes which further human dignity and justice.

Encourage constructive bi-partisan efforts.

Lend our voices to the large numbers of individuals and groups standing ready to protect and promote human and civil rights.

Use updates from our Legislative Chair and State Public Advocate for opportunities to hold our legislators accountable.

Remain vigilant.

Urge family members, neighbors and friends to support members in our communities who feel vulnerable to expressions of hate.

Support our Sections' PACS and programs to further our mission to support women, children, and families.

Fill in my action plan!
