Co-President's Message

The Jewish High Holidays are upon us now. By the time you will receive this Bulletin, Rosh Hashanah will be over and we will end with the Holiest of holy days, Yom Kippur. According to our tradition, Rosh Hashanah is the birthday of the world, the anniversary of G-d's creation of the world. On Yom Kippur we ask G-d and each other to forgive us for any sins we might have made during the past year. How intertwined these days of repentance are. We can begin anew to celebrate the world, improve ourselves and the wonderful world we have been given in the year ahead.

As we look around we see climate change affecting everyone. We have seen people who have lost their homes from hurricanes, earthquakes, fire and other natural disasters. During Sukkot, we are reminded of the covered huts our ancestors found shelter in as they traveled from Egypt to the Promised land. They weathered storms, found shelter and joined together to help each other. This holiday, while we celebrate it as a joyous one, does remind me of the anguish so many are suffering today. So how can we help during these times of turmoil, disasters, and in the face of human rights abuses which need to be met with social justice?

Our NCJW family is always there to help out when needed; to respond to those in need and to help those who cannot help themselves whether it be by providing support on the local, state, national or international level. Greater Philadelphia NCJW will be providing some financial support to those in the Bahamas to help them regain their lives. Locally, you will learn how we are creating new community service projects to help young women in need of feminine hygiene products as we work with one of our State Senators to provide this assistance. We will continue to bring to the attention of our legislators that we want to safeguard the lives of others through more gun safety laws and to never forget the stranger, the refugees and immigrants who deserve humane treatment as we remind ourselves that we, too, were in need of refuge and safety.

On October 29, we will hold our Annual Membership event to honor our members and to welcome those of you who have joined us recently. We will be fortunate to have with us, as our guest speaker, our National NCJW President, Beatrice Kahn, who I know will inspire us to continue our wonderful work on behalf of all women, children and families. I look forward to being with you on October 29th and throughout the coming year.

B'Shalom,
Barbara Nussbaum

BREAKING NEWS:

HIPPY- DCS is adding a Two Year Old Toddler Family Component to its Preschool Family Units!! Mrs. Vyneda Dunston, HIPPY Coordinator reports that four Toddler Families and 38 Preschool Families are already confirmed. HIPPY-DCS expects to again service and enrich a total of 75 Families in the coming fiscal year.

NCJW is proud to support the HIPPY Parent Partners who enhance in great measure the parental ability of their families to improve and expand the environmental awareness, speech, language, and pre-reading skills of their children. HIPPY-DCS parents whose children have already experienced the program have reported their success.

Elaine H. Kline
Co-Chairperson Advisory Committee

For over 30 years, Home Instruction for Parents of Preschool Youngsters (HIPPY) USA has equipped parents with skills, tools, and confidence to prepare their children for success in school in their most important role as their child's first teacher. HIPPY serves families with children ages 2 to 5 and helps them overcome barriers and build a foundation for school success. We do this by ensuring that every Hippy kid is confident and ready for school.

A Warm and Earnest Expression of Gratitude

How inspiring, how satisfying it is to hear from an organization, Dawn's Place, that our NCJW Section has aided their efforts to help heal women who have been traumatized by sexual exploitation or human trafficking. Our contributions of household items continue to make a difference to this residential program which is funded entirely by donations and grants. Among the services provided to women are housing, trauma recovery services and vocational training. A letter from Sister Kathleen Coll, Executive Director of Dawn's Place, shared by our Section's Pennsylvania Policy Advocacy Chair, Lynne Jacobs, reflects the connection we have built in our 5 years of providing support. You will be able to see that letter on our new website on September 24.

We congratulate Dawn's place on their 10th Anniversary. Our NCJW Section will have a table at the October 5 celebration of this milestone, which will be held at a venue in Center City. If you are interested in attending, please email Lynne Jacobs at ljacobs816@gmail.com.

We look forward to our continuing support of this extremely worthy program!

NCJW Greater Philadelphia Section Goes Back to School!

Preparing for our 5th school opening of our adopted school, Benjamin Franklin Elementary, are our NCJW volunteers shown in their "stages of production" to provide for students in need of school supplies and clothing for the coming cold weather.

ORGANIZATION OF CLOSET

Thank you to our "production" volunteers: Charlotte Schwartz, Community Service, V.P., Susan Horwitz, Lee Tonik, Linda Brosgol, Ellen Mirbach and Harriet Gran, and...thank you to all who have contributed to the needs of so many of the thousand students K-8 at Ben Franklin.

A FIRST!!!!

Benjamin Franklin School, built in 1915, got its first playground. Our NCJW Section school volunteers were delighted to be invited, as part of the school community, to the Grand Opening on September 10 featuring the official ribbon cutting by Franklin students and speeches by Philadelphia Mayor, James Kenney, Philadelphia School District Superintendent, William Hite, Franklin Principal, Roslyn Sample-Green, and one of the fifth graders involved with the design of the playground.

The playground was made possible through the Trust for Public Land, a national non-profit that has developed several Philadelphia School playgrounds. Playground designs by the Trust seek to facilitate opportunities to develop physical, academic, and team-building skills and promote community.

Superintendent Hite watches ribbon cutting ceremony.

'Shepping Naches' from NCJW's Work in Israel from Paula Burstyn Goldberg

While in Israel this past May and June, I visited, and was hosted by two organizations with ties to NCJW and supported by grants from NCJW National, to which our Greater Philadelphia Section contributes handsomely. Ruach Nashit (Women's Spirit), is a non-government non-profit organization. Its mission is helping women survivors of violence to rebuild their lives. It does so through counseling, and teaching work and life skills that will set them on a path of personal growth and financial independence. One of its major fundraising activities is running a boutique that holds an annual auction of dresses donated by major Israeli shops and designers. A product of one of its most creative rehab activities, a sewing workshop, is a bride's tote bag, an item accompanying the auctioned off dress. WOW!

The Gender Studies Program, Tel Aviv University, a first of its kind in Israel, was endowed by NCJW in 2001. Supporting BA and MA gender study candidates, the program helped to found the very first Alumni Association. The Association encourages Alums to translate their academic learning into projects serving communities, e.g., working with young women at risk, introducing them to concepts of feminism, women's empowerment, and gender equality, and engaging them in activities to expand their horizons.

It was a beautiful day as our members enjoyed our Taste of Culture visit to Chanticleer Garden. Thanks to Arlene Slobodzian and Ellen Mirbach for arranging this terrific tour.

Gloria Salmonson and Diane Steinbrink, (NCJW Members) starred in a dramatization by Deane Scherlis Comer on the life experience of Ruth Kapp Hartz (also an NCJW member) who was a hidden Child Survivor of Nazi-Occupied France during World War II. The event, which featured Ruth Hartz as a speaker, was held in celebration of the 20th Anniversary of the book, Your name is Renee by Stacy Cretzmeier. The dramatization was based on that book. Also starring in the dramatization were Dave Perelman and students from Rooted Tree Productions.

Notorious RBG: The Life and Times of Ruth Bader Ginsburg

NMAJH will be the first east coast stop for a new exhibition about Justice Ginsburg. Tracing a career that traveled from trailblazer to pop-culture icon (RBG bobble head, anyone?), the upcoming special exhibition Notorious RBG: The Life and Times of Ruth Bader Ginsburg is the first museum retrospective about the extraordinary life of U.S. Supreme Court Justice Ginsburg. Originated by the Skirball Cultural Center in Los Angeles, and based on the New York Times best-selling book of the same name, the visually rich and entertaining exhibition explores RBG's legacy—including her days as a student, her pioneering work as a lawyer and advocate for women's rights, and her precedent-setting role on our nation's highest court.
